LACCD District Offices, All Nine Colleges to Remain Open Dec. 5, 2018

LOS ANGELES—Los Angeles Community College District headquarters and its nine colleges will remain open on December 5, 2018.

A presidential proclamation directed December 5, 2018 to be declared a National Day of Mourning regarding the death of former U.S. President George H.W. Bush and all non-essential federal government agencies are to close.

LACCD is not a federal government agency. All flags at the colleges have been ordered to fly at half-staff for a 30-day period until Dec. 30, 2018.

About the Los Angeles Community College District

LACCD (www.laccd.edu) is the nation's largest community college district, educating about 250,000 students annually at its nine colleges that serve the residents of more than 36 cities and communities from 900 square miles of Los Angeles County. Since 1969, the District has been providing an important learning pathway for students seeking transfer to four-year colleges or universities while also offering two-year degrees and certificated training programs to Southern California's diverse workforce in many specialized trades and professions.
