

Updated Safety Advisories July 2020

July 23, 2020

To All LACCD Faculty and Staff,

Greetings. The District's Emergency Operations Center (EOC) has developed several new Safety Advisories as the District and its colleges begin to implement recovery steps during the COVID-19 public health emergency. The links below to four (4) new Safety Advisories pertain to a very limited return to campus instruction effective on or after July 27, 2020 through August 31, 2020 for the specific purposes of completing Spring 2020 classes that need in-person instruction. Please take a few moments to read through the advisories, especially if you are part of this limited return.

Please note there is no general return or resumption of in-person operations at the colleges at this time. We continue to operate in remote learning and online environments for business services. This is a very specific effort only for classes that need in-person instruction which support the essential services workforce infrastructure of California, such as nursing programs. The Los Angeles County Department of Public Health recently confirmed to the District that we are allowed to proceed only with these classes at this time in an on-campus setting.

The intent is for these Safety Advisories—as well as a new online Symptom Self-Check Questionnaire, to help guide us during this time, including:

In addition, please note that the Communications Office and the Information Technology Office have worked together to better curate the Safety Advisories, Recovery Policies & Information and the EOC Weekly Reports for your convenience on the District website. We have placed them on their own unique pages to make it easier to find and read through the documents, including:
