
IDENTIFICATION CARD

The Los Angeles Community College District no longer issues a “universal” or “standard” identification card to its employees. Instead, each location issues a card for employees assigned to the location. At some locations, your identification card is much more than just an identification card! It also serves as a parking lot gate access card, copying card, and elevator access card.

Your supervisor will direct you to where employee identification cards are issued at your location and explain whether or not there are any costs associated with issuing you a card.
