Dear LACCD Community,

Welcome to the 2025 Spring Semester!

As we begin a new term, we are reminded of the resilience and determination that define our LACCD community. Our students return to classrooms—both in person and online—ready to embark on new academic journeys, and our faculty and staff stand ready to support them every step of the way. Whether you're continuing your education or just beginning your path with us, we are excited to welcome you back and ensure that you have the resources you need to succeed.

At the same time, we recognize the challenges that many in our community continue to face. The aftermath of the fires continues to impact communities across California, and we stand in solidarity with those affected. Through our LA Strong efforts, we are committed to providing resources and assistance, ensuring that our campuses remain places of stability and support.

This semester also brings changes at the federal level, as new executive actions and policies take effect—many of which raise important questions for our students and employees. LACCD remains fully committed to providing guidance and support while continuing to fiercely advocate for the values that define us: access and opportunity for all.

As we move forward, we also take time to celebrate Black History Month, honoring the profound contributions of Black leaders, scholars, and changemakers who have shaped our nation. Their resilience and achievements remind us of the power of education and the importance of lifting each other up. LACCD is proud to recognize and celebrate Black history—not just in February, but every day—as we work toward a more just and inclusive future. Each of our colleges has planned events and activities to commemorate this important month. Check out our website to explore Black History Month events across all LACCD colleges.

No matter the challenges ahead, we face them together—with strength, unity, and a shared commitment to our students and communities. Thank you for all you do to support one another and uphold the mission of LACCD.

Wishing you a successful and inspiring semester!

Interim Chancellor

ELAC Hosts Spring Enrollment Day

ELAC kicked off the spring semester with its vibrant Spring Enrollment Day on Saturday, January 25th. From 9 AM to 1 PM, the campus buzzed with activity as current and prospective students took advantage of this one-stop opportunity to register for classes and receive personalized support.

The event offered more than just enrollment services. Students enjoyed a lively atmosphere with music, games, and complimentary food, creating a welcoming environment for all attendees. In a unique approach to showcase the college's diverse offerings, all ELAC departments were present, providing interactive demonstrations that gave students a taste of their potential classroom experiences.

This successful event not only streamlined the enrollment process but also fostered a sense of community and excitement for the upcoming semester, embodying ELAC's commitment to student success and engagement.

ELAC Men's Basketball: Dominating the Court

The ELAC Men's Basketball team is having an exceptional season, currently riding an impressive 15-game winning streak. With a stellar record of 17 wins and only 2 losses, the Huskies are showcasing their prowess on the court.

As the team heads into the final stretch of the regular season with 9 games remaining before playoffs, they continue to demonstrate their skill and teamwork. The Huskies' success can be attributed in part to the leadership of head coach John Mosley, who has amassed an outstanding record of 258-61 during his tenure of over a decade at ELAC.

The team's performance is reflected in their statistics, with players showing strength in various aspects of the game. They are averaging 84.4 points per game while holding their opponents to 76.7 points[1]. The Huskies are also demonstrating efficiency from the free-throw line, shooting at a 74.4% success rate.

As ELAC approaches the playoffs, the Men's Basketball team's continued success promises an exciting conclusion to an already remarkable season.

California First Partner Visits Pierce College to Support Fire Response Efforts

Amid the challenges of wildfires sweeping through Southern California, Pierce welcomed California First Partner Jennifer Siebel Newsom on Tuesday, January 14, 2025 to our Equestrian Center, where a large animal evacuation shelter has been operating in partnership with L.A. County Animal Care and Control. The shelter is currently home to approximately 225 animals, including horses, alpacas, goats, sheep, chickens, and pigs.

During her visit, the First Partner met volunteers and staff, offering gratitude for their tireless efforts. She also had a special moment with Loretta Mae, a miniature horse who usually serves as a therapy animal for children with disabilities. Loretta Mae, like so many other animals, are finding safety and care at the Pierce shelter during the crisis.

Pierce College students from the Pre-Veterinary, Registered Veterinary Technician, and Equine Sciences Club played a pivotal role in the shelter's success. Under the leadership of farm management staff and faculty, they constructed modular pens to expand the shelter's capacity and provided hands-on care to the animals last Wednesday evening during the peak of the fires. These efforts highlight the students' dedication and demonstrates the practical, community-oriented education that Pierce College offers.

The Pierce College Farm has been a cornerstone of the response, ensuring displaced animals are well cared for. However, this vital work depends on the community's support. In addition to monetary donations, some items needed for shelter operations include:

- Heavy-duty water hoses
- 50+ gallon portable water tanks
- Hay feed (Timothy or Alfalfa)
- Shavings bedding

Donations can be delivered daily between 6:00 AM and 4:30 PM, with Animal Control officers available onsite 24/7 to assist. For those needing donation letters, the Pierce College Foundation is happy to provide them.

Your contributions will help ensure these animals continue to receive the care they need during this challenging time. To support the wildfire relief efforts, please visit the Pierce College Foundation Wildfire Support Page.

Pierce Plant Science Program Contributes Fresh Produce to Brahma Bodega During Wildfire Crisis

The Pierce College Plant Science program recently donated three crates of greenhouse-grown produce to the Brahma Bodega to support the campus community during the ongoing wildfire crisis. On January 14, student workers and volunteers joined Dr. Savanah Senn to harvest fresh lettuce, greens, radishes, and tomatoes in preparation for an upcoming Brahma Bodega distribution day.

The opportunity to care for the plants and provide fresh food offered a sense of purpose to students and faculty who wanted to assist in relief efforts. The Plant Science Program, which cultivates a variety of plants including vegetables, succulents, cacti, and trees, has a history of giving back to community. Previous donations include vegetables for the Associated Students Organization (ASO) in 2020, Mission College's culinary program, and the Brahma Bodega in 2024.

Thank you to Dr. Senn and the Plant Science students for supporting our community with fresh, locally grown produce.

Climate certificates and internship

WLAC's College & Career Prep Division and Adult Education Program, in partnership with the California Center for Climate Change Education, has developed several "climatized" noncredit certificates. The certificates teach students about Climate Careers, Green Jobs, Sustainable Entrepreneurship, and Nature Conservation. They include hybrid and online courses that combine practical skills with real-world tools like greenhouse gas tracking software, case studies of eco-friendly businesses, and field trips to explore conservation practices. Designed to be accessible and low stress, these programs are perfect for those looking to enhance their resumes, diversify their skills, or explore climate and sustainability careers. Whether people are just starting out or looking to pivot, the certificates provide a gateway to meaningful professional and educational growth in emerging economic sectors.

Certificates:

- Nature Conservation
- Sustainable Facilities Management and Climate Mitigation Strategies
- Job Readiness for Green Careers
- Sustainable Entrepreneurship for Climate Action

The Climate Center is also busy recruiting 100 new student interns who will be placed with local organizations with compatible missions this summer. Continuing and in-coming students are eligible to apply for these paid positions. More information and the application can be found at WLAC.edu/Climate-Center

The Microforest is Coming

An open field area formerly known as “The Slope” will be converted into a “microforest” this spring. A planting day event will be held on Saturday, March 8. Students, staff and community members will gather to plant indigenous trees, shrubs, plants and flowers that will be enjoyed by the campus and greater community for years to come.

Microforests (also called pocket forests, mini forests, and tiny forests) are densely-planted and multilayered indigenous forests planted in small urban spaces which act as self-sustaining ecosystems that reconnect fragmented habitat and restore biodiversity in the city. More information on this coming event is available at WLAC.edu under the Events section.
